

Every CyCare business management solution includes a state of the art component...

Marcia Callahan, Senior Account Manager

A CyCare Account Manager.

CyCare's business was founded to provide effective information management solutions to physician-oriented entities; and in the two decades since, we have earned a reputation for meeting our client's needs on schedule, within budget and in a manner that meets their expectations.

But it takes more than high-tech to keep clients; it takes good old-fashioned service. That's why we created our Account Management organization.

CyCare account managers serve as field consultants to our clients, making certain they get the most out of our services, constantly evaluating physician coding and reimbursement issues, competitive and market factors, financial analysis and physician practice patterns.

As Medicare and other insurers tighten their payment policies, physician entities are recognizing the need for multi-talented individuals with detailed coding expertise and a solid understanding of payment policies and trends.

Whether clients choose an in-house system or a full-service approach, they know they can count on an experienced, dedicated account manager every step of the way.
